ACCEPTANCE OF THE TERMS OF THE FELLOWSHIP AWARDED WITHIN THE FRAMEWORK OF THE UNESCO/ISRAEL (MASHAV) CO-SPONSORED FELLOWSHIP PROGRAMME

Encouraging the international exchange of persons is a function enshrined in the constitution of the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO). With a view to increasing training opportunities and enhancing human resource potential, UNESCO has negotiated the terms of the jointly sponsored fellowship which is now offered to you.

UNESCO receives thousands of requests for training each year. Current statistics show that, unfortunately, higher education is available to only a privileged group of people: 8% of the world’s population have access to it. A mere fraction of these have access to study abroad.

UNESCO is pleased to inform you that you have been selected to benefit from a UNESCO fellowship which has been generously offered cost-free by Israel (MASHAV).
The purpose of this fellowship is to provide you with the opportunity to broaden your knowledge and experience, and to learn new skills and up-to-date techniques. It is hoped that you will be able to participate more effectively in the development efforts of your country.

The fact that you have applied under this Scheme implies that you accept all the terms of the fellowship. The terms of the fellowship offered to you have been spelled out in detail in either the letter of award or in the letter announcing this Scheme which was sent to your National Commission. Various facilities are offered by the host country and established and paid directly by the host country. However modest the facilities offered may appear to you, it should be emphasized that Israel (MASHAV), in availing you of this cost-free training, has indeed made a generous offer. Often the conditions are similar to those offered to their own nationals. These do not necessarily coincide with the UNDP rate or with UNESCO’s payment procedures. Keep in mind that, for the host country, stipends are not the only cost of training; tuition and university infrastructure are costly aspects of training. In offering you this fellowship Israel is making considerable effort to co-operate in attaining global development objectives.

***************

As beneficiary of a fellowship under the Co-Sponsored Fellowship Scheme, I declare that I have carefully studied and accept all the conditions generously offered to me by Israel (MASHAV) and UNESCO.

It is understood that no claims for additional assistance will be made to either Israel or UNESCO. Should this be at all necessary, it will be my entire responsibility to resolve the matter with other funding sources.

Date ............................................. Name of Fellow .............................................

Signature of Fellow .............................................